A group of students were shipwrecked upon Study Island. They developed a set of laws that they all agreed upon and would follow.

In Kat Kingdom, there is only one law and it is whatever the King Kat says it is.

In Dogland, the citizens can petition (request) for a change in the laws.

In the land of Ewok, the people of the land are not allowed to speak out against the Leader.

In Gummyland, the laws can be contested in a court to determine if they are fair laws.

In Dandyland, there is one candidate running for office and the people can vote either yes or no for the candidate.

In Warthog World, people vote for representatives who determine what the laws will be.

In Bowzerland, there is one leader who makes the laws, but it is not a King or a Queen.

In Utopia, the military works to protect the people.

On the island of Wookieland, the leader of the island is also the leader of the Wookie religion. The only laws are Wookie religious texts.

In Mandalore, people can complain about the actions of the government without worry.

In Palpatine, a citizen is arrested for suggesting the government is not doing a good job.

In Moleland, there is a King determined by birth and a Constitution developed by representatives of the people.

In Reichland, the people are not allowed to meet in small groups.
